

SEEN & HEARD

THE CHAN FAMILY

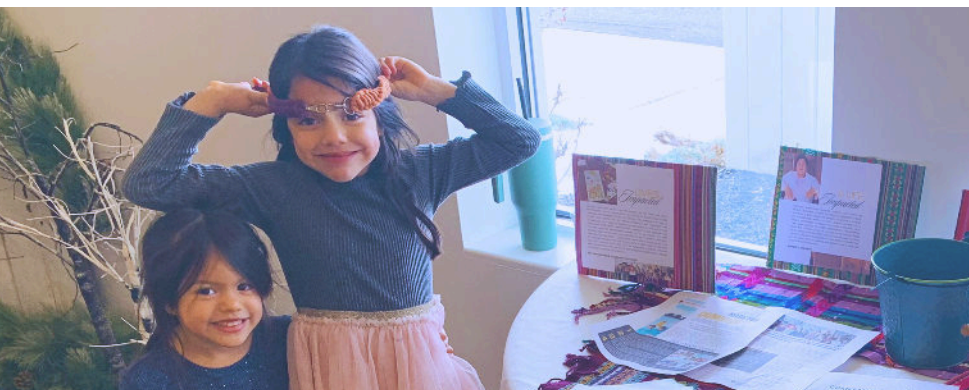

Welcome "Home"...

We are grateful to have experienced God's hand at work over our time Stateside and for Noé back home. I can't even believe all the ways He protected us: avoiding the flu season, traveling in snow storms, being without power for more than a day, etc. He granted our girls the opportunity to not only see snow as they had dreamed of, but also to play multiple times and experience the snow fun in several different ways. What a gift to see this dream come true for them.

My mind is swirling with the events of the past month. I wish I could paint this detailed picture of how He put together SO MANY of the details, meetings, and opportunities to share with family and friends; because my words fall short. I'll share some of the highlights as it is a reminder that He is just so good and the Giver of all good gifts:

- we met my newest Beyer nephew and spent quality time with all of his family (cousins getting to know and appreciate one another) - a gift
- we were gifted time with both my grandfathers and one grandmother
- we saw so many people dear to my heart.

At one of our home churches, I received a hug from one of the longtime members who stepped back with a lump in his throat and said what I think my heart needed to hear, "You are following in your mother's footsteps. Welcome home." It tied it all together for me; the visit "home" to family both biological and heavenly was a reminder of this gift we've been given in our heavenly heritage.

PLEASE PRAY:

- 1) Noé's visa interview - favor (scheduled for March 3rd)
- 2) God appointments
- 3) Unity & community
- 4) Girls begin preschool - health and joy to abound.

God provided

From Noé:

Although my family traveled to the US to participate in face-to-face training with Cornerstone International (CI), I was unable to join them because my visa interview did not go through in time. However, I was able to participate virtually. During this time, I gained valuable insight that helps me understand how to better serve the community and strengthen our ministry model. This training gave us tools for new ways to impact the lives of those around us.

Making the most of my time back in Guatemala, I took the opportunity to fill in for my sister-in-law and assist in the logistics of an art camp, which allowed me to see ways that we can better our discipleship model with our native volunteers.

It was a privilege to share with our local team and build relationship with them while serving at the Ceiva school. Though I could not go to the States, we know that everything happened according to His plan. We experienced how God generously provided what was needed to cover the expenses and other various unmeasurable needs for the trip through the support of family and friends. This experience was a true blessing; it has reaffirmed our confidence that God has a perfect plan for our family.

We are grateful for the gift that you all are to us and that we might call you family - a heavenly gift. May our family's account of His faithfulness be a reminder and encouragement to you.

Until we meet again,
